CPRI CHILD & PARENT
RESOURCE INSTITUTE

Ministry of Children, Community and Social Services

OUR MISSION: We provide specialized, trauma-responsive mental health and developmental services to achieve best possible outcomes for Ontario's children and youth.

General Information

CPRI provides provincial, highly specialized, trauma-informed treatment and targeted intervention services for children and youth of Ontario with complex combinations of special needs including severe behavioural and emotional challenges, mental health and developmental disabilities and autism.

All of our services are voluntary. We need informed consent from the child/youth or their substitute decision-maker for every part of service.

INPATIENT SERVICES

Our Inpatient teams collaborate with the child/youth, caregivers and community service providers in developing a comprehensive plan to manage continuing needs at the community level of service. Unit demographics and population may change based on referral patterns, to best meet the needs of dual diagnosis and/or mental health populations.

Our units provide assessment, consultation and short-term treatment based on the individualized clinical needs and identified goals of children/youth with complex multiple needs.

OUTPATIENT SERVICES

Outpatient Services may include interdisciplinary assessment, consultation, and initial stages of treatment for children and youth who are at risk of displacement from home, school or community.
