2015 Δ<CI·Δ a BP R·Δ a bbRbUP b
<ΔaJPL·Δ a - PPa·<CI·Δ aCL9·Δ a

...
The text appears to be in Inuktitut, a language spoken by the Inuit community in Nunavut, Canada. The document contains text that is not clearly translatable due to its complexity and the specific cultural context of the Inuit language. Here are a few key points that can be identified:

- The text mentions "Aboriginal" and "First Nations, Métis" community terms.
- It includes references to "Indian," "native person," and "native community.
- The text also references legal and political terms such as "Indian Act."